Updated 2021 May 22

Anthony Savarese and his wife Ella Reed owned a house in Baychester in 1940 at 2301 Hunter Avenue.¹ Prior to marriage, Anthony lived in two other locations in Baychester: in 1910 he lived on Baychester Avenue (no number back then)²; in 1920 he lived at Baychester Avenue³ and 2223 Wright Avenue⁴— two addresses because there were two 1920 enumerations, but they were at corners to each other.

Anthony was born around 1877 in Egypt, son of Egypt native Raffael Savarese and Italian native Rosa Buttell.⁵ His immigration and naturalization dates are conflicted in the two 1920 census records, and actual immigration papers were not found.

Anthony Savarese and Ella Reed were married on January 7, 1906 in Manhattan, New York. Ella was born about 1886 in Long Island, New York, daughter of Pennsylvania native James Reed and German immigrant Minna Walter.⁵ Ella grew up in Brooklyn.⁶ Where they went to live immediately after marriage is unknown. They had six children between 1907 and 1923. Anthony supported his family as a Bridge Tender. It is possible that he worked on the railway bridge that bordered the neighborhood and was over Givens Creek.

After 1940 nothing has been located about Anthony and Ella. It is not known when they died or where they might be buried.
